“At a certain moment in time of my life I found out that things about me were not as I thought. One statement which really opened that door was when my adopted grandmother told me that I was Austrian and not English.

It has taken 60 years to fill in as many blank spaces that occurred out of my bit of history. Thankfully with the help of my adopted parents who tried to do the best for me, and the continual help of my loving wife sharing the whole horrible situation with me, I am here today to thank the students for listening to the very painful episode of my past. “
